

EVERYONE HAS THE RIGHT TO LIVE SAFELY IN OREGON

Oregon law separates local law enforcement from federal immigration enforcement to protect human rights. We can all help track sanctuary promise violations.

WHAT IS THE SANCTUARY PROMISE ACT?

The 2021 Sanctuary Promise Act expanded Oregon's Sanctuary Law so that no government or law enforcement agency assists federal immigration enforcement without a warrant from a judge.

WHAT VIOLATES THE SANCTUARY PROMISE ACT?

- Police or state or local government investigating or questioning people to help with immigration enforcement;
- Sheriffs or state or local government requesting, storing, or sharing information about someone's country of birth or citizenship status;
- Immigration and Customs Enforcement arresting someone at or traveling to or from court or without a warrant from a judge;
- Denying services, benefits, or privileges to a person in jail or on probation or parole based on immigration status.

WHAT HAPPENS IF I REPORT A VIOLATION?

- Reporting to the hotline can be anonymous. The targeted person's identity will not be shared publicly or with federal immigration authorities;
- Reporting could get those targeted connected to supportive resources;
- The Department of Justice can also open an investigation into the violation if the targeted person chooses.

HOW DO I REPORT A VIOLATION?

If someone is targeted in violation of the Sanctuary Promise Act, contact the Oregon Department of Justice's hotline to report a suspected violation and receive support.
